COLOR THE BIRDS THAT CALL SLEEPING LADY HOME

WHITE-HEADED WOODPECKER

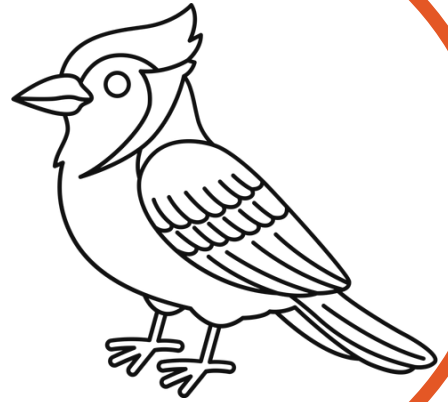

Our woodpecker population is nearly 10x higher than the average for the Cascade foothills, thanks in large part to our policy of leaving dead trees standing—their favorite habitat!

OSPREY

Ospreys are the only raptors on the continent that eat almost exclusively live fish!

STELLER'S JAY

The Steller's Jay and the Blue Jay are the only New World jays that use mud to build their nests. Can you draw a nest in the tree?
